Media Monitoring Resources

Description

Below are some initial suggestions for resources that will help with the Media Monitoring/Applying Technology assignment. The assignment is designed to give us experience keeping current with technology developments, sharing those developments with others, identifying issues relevant to our work and interests, and engaging in thoughtful dialogue about those developments. Post SIX (6) times during the semester and respond to at least six posts in a substantive but concise way. Discuss why the post is relevant for you and any other thoughts or questions you may have. Indicate any related resources you may know of, and specifically how you intend to use the knowledge.

Resources

Discussion Lists

- CNI – Coalition for Networked Information "supporting the transformative promise of digital information technology for the advancement of scholarly communication and the enrichment of intellectual productivity" (Resources: https://www.cni.org/resources)
- DIGLIB – "for librarians, information scientists, and other information professionals to share information about the many issues and technologies pertaining to the creation of "digital libraries."(https://infoserv.inist.fr/wws/subrequest/diglib)
- EAD – Encoded Archival Description "to facilitate the exchange of information about the XML (Extensible Markup Language) DTD (Document Type Definition) for archival finding aids" (https://www.loc.gov/ead/eadlist.html)
- ERIL – Electronic Resources in Libraries (https://www.eril-l.org/)
- IAI – Information Architecture Institute "supports individuals and organizations specializing in the design and construction of shared information environments" (http://archive.iainstitute.org/en/members/lists/email_lists.php)
- KM4DEV – "a community of international development practitioners who are interested in knowledge management and knowledge sharing issues and approaches" (http://www.km4dev.org/ - info on the list; https://dgroups.org/groups/km4dev-l to join the group/list)
- WEB4LIB – "for the discussion of issues relating to the creation, management, and support of library-based World-Wide Web servers, services, and applications" (http://web4lib.org/)
- XML4LIB – "for the discussion of the Extensible Markup Language (XML) and its use in, by, and for libraries and library users" (http://xml4lib.org/)

Serials

- Ariadne – "Web magazine for information professionals" (http://www.ariadne.ac.uk/)

- Communications of the ACM – "trusted insights for computing's leading professionals" (http://cacm.acm.org/)
- Computers in Libraries – "news and issues in the rapidly evolving field of library information technology" (http://www.infotoday.com/cilmag/) * Some articles free.
- Wired – "how emerging technologies affect culture, the economy, and politics" (https://www.wired.com/magazine/ - the "magazine" is a sub-section of the website)

Blogs, Newsletters, Sites

- ACM Tech News – "Timely information for IT professionals" (http://technews.acm.org/current.cfm)
- David Lee King – "social media | emerging trends | libraries" (http://www.davidleeking.com/)
- LITA Blog – Library and information technology association, a division of ALA (http://litablog.org/)
- MIT Technology Review – (https://www.technologyreview.com/)
- O'Reilly Ideas (O'Reilly Media) – Technology trends (https://www.oreilly.com/ideas)
- Shifted Librarian – "Shifting libraries at the speed of byte!" (https://theshiftedlibrarian.com/)
- Tech Soup for Libraries' Places to Learn about Technology (http://www.techsoupforlibraries.org/cookbook-3/planning-and-decision-making/tools/places-to-learn-about-technology)
- Berkman Klein Center for Internet and Society at Harvard University – "exploring cyberspace, sharing in its study & pioneering its development" (Home: https://cyber.harvard.edu/; Mailing lists for Berkman Buzz and other: https://cyber.harvard.edu/getinvolved#mailinglists)

Associations
Discussion lists, blogs, or resources from these associations and their Special Interest Groups (SIGs) or Divisions can be useful. You will usually need to navigate to, and through, the SIGs and Divisions individual websites to find the links to their lists, newsletters, blogs, social media accounts or other resources. Or search the site for "discussion list" or "listserv". Sometimes listservs are on "membership" pages.

- American Society for Information Science & Technology (ASIS&T) – "The information society for the information age" (SIG lists: https://www.asist.org/sig/)
- Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) – "The first society in computing" (SIG lists: https://www.acm.org/special-interest-groups/sigs-by-knowledge-area)
- Library & Information Technology Association (LITA) – Division of American Library Association (http://lists.ala.org/sympa/lists/divisions/lita)
- American Library Association (ALA) – Electronic Discussion Lists (Browse by categories: https://lists.ala.org/sympa/lists_categories)
- International Federation of Library Associations (IFLA) – Mailing lists: https://www.ifla.org/mailing-lists